Tell me about what you're studying

What made you choose that?

What options did you hope it could lead you to?

What's the worst part of your course?

Ask me anything about how I got here?

Shall I share about my role?

What were you hoping to learn more about today?

Guy Martin's Great British Power Trip

Guy Martin investigates how Britain makes its power and why it costs so much 1.

Focus on four local educators.

Don't say yes to every careers fair.

2.

Find a creative way to engage your target audience.

Projects or games bring the role to life.

3.

It's never too early to start.

GCSE options are chosen as young as 12.
